

ADVISORY BOARD MEMBER

Center for Supply Chain Research at Lehigh

TIM BREITBACH

Air Force Institute of Technology

Tim Breitbach is in the Department of Operational Sciences Logistics Division Chief and an Assistant Professor of Logistics and Supply Chain Management at the Air Force Institute of Technology. As an active duty Air Force officer, Major Breitbach received his commission in 2005 as a graduate of the Reserve Officer Training Corps program. He received his Ph.D. in Engineering Systems from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 2017. His dissertation research focused on supply chain financial analysis of firms in developing countries. Additional research interests include humanitarian logistics and the role of supply chains in international development, inventory management and supply chain resilience.

