

ADVISORY BOARD MEMBER

Center for Supply Chain Research at Lehigh

FRED KOECK
Business Development
Manager and Supply
Chain Link Connector
Derby Supply Chain
Solutions

Fred is a Business Development Manager and Supply Chain Link Connector for Derby Supply Chain Solutions supporting multiple facilities across the United States. Derby Supply Chain Solutions is a value add 3PL with capabilities in Warehousing, Contract Packaging, Assembly, and Fulfillment. He is responsible for listening and understanding the situational requirements then recommending the appropriate support capabilities across a user's supply chain for today and the future. His experience crosses many market categories including automotive, confections, cosmetics, electronics, food, home & hardware, medical device, military, packaging, personal care, pet care and other consumer products goods.

He is President of the Lehigh Valley Roundtable of the Council of Supply Chain Management Professionals as well as the President of the Traffic Club of the Lehigh Valley, and is involved with numerous other industry, trade, and non-profit organizations. He also holds positions on several boards of directors and corporate advisory boards for packaging, wholesale/distribution, and tech development businesses.

Fred has a B.A. in Economics from Rutgers University and a Masters in Logistics and Supply Chain Management from Georgia College and State University.

He lives with his wife in Bartonsville, PA in the southern portion of the Poconos where he enjoys the outdoors and the nature in his backyard.

