SENIOR DIRECTOR, PRODUCT MANAGEMENT, ELEMICA

Digitization is the Foundation Of Enduring Supply Chains

As Elemica's Senior Director, Product Management, Gary Neights, is responsible for innovations in digital supply chain networks. This includes leveraging emerging technologies like amplifications, block chain, predictive analytics, robotic process automation, and more to help people in organizations get the right product to the right place at the right time with the right paperwork.

Gary started his career as an officer in the US Marine Corps focused on logistics and supply chain activities to keep frontline aircraft mission-capable. After that worked at GP Strategies (formerly RWD Technologies) as a Lead Consultant, Member of Project Management Oversight Board, and a trainer in Project Management, Performance Based Analysis, and ERP Manufacturing Planning. At GP Strategies, he supported technology initiatives for companies including Chevron, Coca Cola, Conexant, Dow, Exxon, Ford, IBM, Lyondell, Mobil, P&G, and SAP. Gary holds a BS in Mechanical Engineering from Penn State and an MS in Business Administration from Boston University.

He serves on the Management Consulting Advisory Board of the Fox School of Business at Temple University and has authored many papers on supply chain management. He also recently presented, Machine Based Learning: Mimicking The Working Of Human Brains and received a 2021 Intercon Award for Excellence in Technology. Gary's previously was listed on Supply & Demand Chain Executive's Pros to Know list and named a Top 50 Tech Visionary.
