Member of the Martindale Center Advisory Committee
Martindale Student Associates Program (Chile), 1998-99

Luis Arcentales is a managing director and market strategist at The Rohatyn Group, an asset manager focused on emerging markets. Prior to his current role and after a short stint as an independent macro researcher, Luis had a near two-decade long career at Morgan Stanley in New York. As a senior economist, his primary focus was developing the macroeconomic and political outlooks for countries in Latin America, in addition to publishing on topics ranging from the business cycle to trade dynamics for the region. Since joining Morgan Stanley in 2001, the Latin America group earned first place as Wall Street's top economics team in the annual Institutional Investor (II) survey 11 times. Prior to moving to New York, Luis was an equity strategist at McGlenn Capital, a value-oriented asset manager in Pennsylvania.

Luis holds a MS in Economics and BS in Industrial Engineering from Lehigh University; he is also a CFA charter holder and an avid cyclist.
